Fujitsu in Defence and National Security

FUJITSU

Fujitsu, as one of the largest IT, Telecommunications and Services companies in the world, works with many military organisations, intelligence communities and Government Departments to provide highly secure Information & Communications Systems Services.

Defence Capabilities

Our comprehensive ICT-based solutions include a broad range of secure transformational systems and services enabling customers, from Defence, National Security, and other Government Agencies to realise objectives, reduce costs and increase effectiveness by exploiting advances in technology. As a result of our work with the Ministries of Defence, and a wide spread of cross government agencies, we have an excellent insight into the challenges that surround the 'joining up' of information, often across many agencies, in order to respond effectively to any large scale crisis – whether prompted by military action, natural disaster or terrorist action. Working with best of breed industry partners, Fujitsu has brought together a comprehensive range of systems and services that can contribute significantly in helping to meet these challenges; providing rapid access to a common operating picture and new secure ways to get data, intelligence, orders and information to the places and people that need it most.

Our areas of expertise include Command, Control, Communications and Computing systems (C4I), integrated platforms, Situational Awareness, Mobility, Information Management and Exploitation and Decision Support systems, together with a range of low-energy hardware designed for the environment in which it needs to operate.

Global Defence

Fujitsu Group is now focussing on the Global Defence and National Security market place and is developing a more comprehensive portfolio of market specific solutions, and is expanding its offerings portfolio into more platform based areas, such as Gallium Nitride based communications capabilities, Stealth technologies and industry specific Applications. We support customers across Europe, the Middle East and India, Asia Pacific, Canada and the USA. Our commitment to military deployed infrastructure is unrivalled amongst Information Communication and Technology companies and we provide the same level of support to Defence and National Security customers wherever they are; in the office, the headquarters, on the road, on foot, at sea or in the trenches.

Defence Contractors

We have a long successful track record of working in partnership with the major Defence Contractors, and with the providers of technology for next-generation services, computer servers and networks. We design, build and operate IT systems and services for customers in all areas of our market place. Our core strengths are in IT infrastructure management / outsourcing and strategic and operational applications integration and deployment, with a strong emphasis on Security at all levels.

Research & Development

Our tested approach includes a multi-million pound annual investment in Research and Development which, when combined with partners' capabilities, offers the Defence and National Security Communities compelling, reliable and durable solutions in critical service areas.
